THE PEARL OF THE GENERATIVE SHELL
Video - 5’24”
(2026)

In The Pearl of the Generative Shell, which is also the title of my graduation show, I present a series of paintings in which male bodies appear caught between embrace and struggle. They are accompanied by 3D-printed frames coated with glitter and velvet, whose appearance, at once fragile and monumental enter into dialogue with a film whose soundtrack permeates the exhibition space. In this video, an AI-generated avatar guides viewers through a narrative that traces a cryptic connection between technofascism, brainrot, masculinism, and digital feudalism.
